

Brave Market Gateway

Compliance in a Box

Market Gateway simplifies market interactions for Australian utilities, providing seamless integration and transaction management.

Developed exclusively for the Australian energy market, our Market Gateway is a highly configurable, compliant solution that is production-ready out of the box, eliminating the need for costly and complex solution implementations.

Transform the way you manage market messages, transactions and processes.

Our Market Gateway shields your internal systems and processes from the complexities of transacting with the market operator and other participants. Our solution is future-proofed to insulate you from market change and can easily fit into your existing infrastructure so you can realise the benefits immediately.

Sophisticated transaction management made simple.

Purpose-built for Australian utilities, Market Gateway handles the essentials of transacting in the energy markets. Built to market specification for Standing Data, B2B and CATS, our intuitive solution gives you compliance in a box. Market Gateway easily integrates with your existing systems, to take the complexity out of market interactions.

Benefits of a Brave solution

Multi-role support

Supports multi-participant and multi-role connectivity to the National Electricity and Gas markets.

Direct integration into AEMO's systems

Our Market Gateway makes it easy to transition between communications protocols and messaging formats by translating inbound and outbound messaging to suit your existing solutions.

Cross-platform communication

Easily transform messages between JSON, aseXML or ebXML, switch communications protocol from FTP to web services, or transform XML schema versions without funding expensive software upgrades every time the market changes.

Reconcile your standing data.

With the unique capability to constantly reconcile your Standing Data with the market, our Market Gateway keeps you in sync with market participants.

Automatic filtering and actioning of requests

With automatic initiation of CATS change requests and management of the process through the change request lifecycle, you can reduce your operating costs and increase productivity. Market Gateway handles all the validations and market rules for B2M and B2B transactions with automated processing rules, filtering out the invalid requests so you don't have to.

Key Features

Market Integration Layer

- Configurable rules internally route messages, transactions, and acknowledgements giving you automated management of energy market communications and translation to formats your solution can understand.
- Automatically handles all your market messages, identifies errors and sends notifications and tracks receipt.

CATS

- Monitor and manage the lifecycle of CATS Processes with configurable automated workflows and business rules minimising the number of items that need to be handled manually.
- Automatically schedule and action MSATS Reports.

B2B

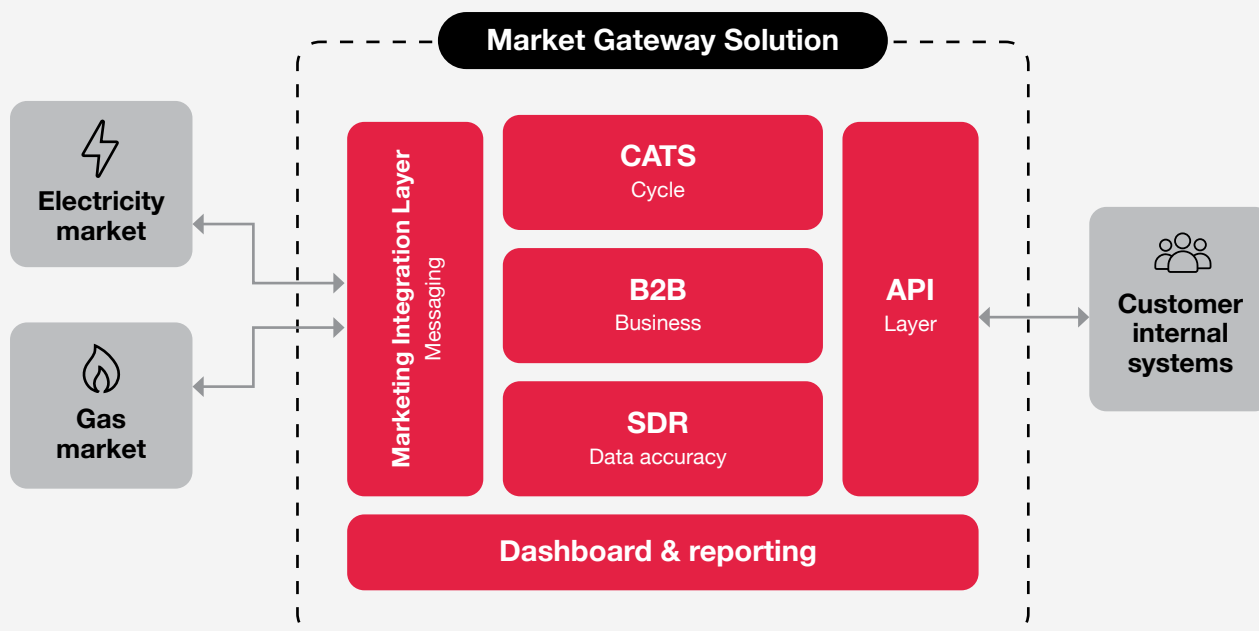

- Initiate and receive service orders or manage core business flows involving both CATS and Service Orders such as winning new customers.
- Translate and process critical customer information to your internal systems from site detail notifications or life support without having to interpret the market structures.

Standing Data Repository

- Store and maintain market standing data
- Continuous automated review and reconciliation of market standing data to ensure you stay aligned with MSATS.

Dashboard and Reporting

- Easy navigation within the user interface allowing your team to operate more efficiently.
- Configurable reports to visualise your data.
